DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This Office Action has been issued in response to amendment filed 16 February 2007. Applicant's arguments have been carefully and fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made as noted infra. Accordingly, this action has NOT been made final.

Claim Status

Claims 1, 3-4, and 7-10 remain pending and are ready for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Independent claim 1 recites, 'a system for maintaining identity of which device, if any, owns the group of lines, and which device, if any, owns each individual line within the group of lines.' Dependent claim 3 recites, 'at least two lines in the group of lines having separate owners.' This is indefinite. A line has an owner when its state is Modified or Exclusive (page 10 lines 18-19 of Applicant's specification). Additionally, page 2 lines 4-5 of Applicant's specification states that, 'there can only be one "owner" of a line. If an entire group of lines is owned by a device (a condition that might exist that is provided for with the language in the claims), the

Art Unit: 2187

Examiner is unsure how a different device might own individual lines within that group of lines (also recited in the claims as the claims provide for the condition in which a different device can own a line within a group of lines that might have a different device that owns the entire group of lines). Further clarification is respectfully requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jim Handy The Cache Memory Book herein after referred to as Handy.

As per independent claim 1, Handy teach,

- a cache memory that reads and caches a group of lines with a single memory transaction; and (pages 67-69 and 202: taught as a 'burst')
- a system for maintaining identity of which device, if any, owns the group of lines, and which device, if any, owns each individual line within the group of lines (pages 67-69 and 202: as the language, 'if any' is recited in the claims, Handy anticipates this as the condition that exists when no device owns any lines).

As per independent claim 7, Handy teach,

- retrieving a group of lines in response to a request for a single line; and (pages 67-69 and 202: taught as a 'burst')

- maintaining ownership information for the group of lines and for each individual line within the group of lines (pages 67-69 and 202: as the language recited in the claims provides for a condition to exist when no device owns any lines).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 4 and 8-10 were indicated allowable in the Office Action dated 16 August 2005. Their status remains allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been carefully and fully considered in light of the instant amendment, filed 16 February 2007, but are considered moot in light of the new ground(s) of rejection not necessitated by amendment.
